

Born in Costa Rica, Daniel Chen Wang began his piano studies at the age of five with Dr. Alexandr Sklioutovski. In June 2021, Daniel graduated from the Central Musical School in Moscow with honors, where he worked with Professor Daria Riabova. Now he studies at the New England Conservatory of Music under the guidance of Professor Pavel Nerssesian.

Daniel is a prizewinner of many national and international competitions including first prize in “A Step Towards Mastery” in Saint Petersburg, first prize in “La Rioja” Piano Competition in Spain, third prize in the EPTA Belgium W-B competition, and a finalist in the third International Competition for Young Pianists “Grand Piano” Competition.

He has performed as a soloist in major venues around the world, including the National Theatre of Costa Rica, the Tchaikovsky Hall, the Rachmaninoff Hall, the Malii Hall, and the Grand Hall of the Moscow State Conservatory Tchaikovsky. He has also collaborated with the Symphonic Orchestra of Kostroma, the Moscow Symphony Orchestra, the Saint Petersburg Symphony Orchestra, and the State Academic Symphony Orchestra of Russia “Evgeny Svetlanov”.